Reinventing facility transportation

We all know that transportation is about more than just calling a driver and arranging a pick-up for a resident. There are many factors to consider... what if the driver is already scheduled? How long can a resident wait for a pick-up? Does the resident require a wheelchair-accessible option? Are your departments able to communicate effectively? How about billing? Reporting?

Efficient and streamlined transportation must address all of these challenges, without straying from a resident-first approach. This has never been easier with TheWorxHub: Transportation.
